Trust is not always what it seems when the heart that holds it is Tainted. When broken promises and harsh betrayal replaces love and honesty, relationships crumble and lives are lost. Will the suffocating loom of deception ultimately destroy the bond between friends, or will they be able to mend their shattered hearts? With dishonesty, hatred and blinded love resting in contaminated souls the only recourse they have may lie between the legs of one of the most deadly women in the equation. Sometimes the only way out is death.
