Jezzie was running scared. She couldn't stand the attraction in her heart for Andrzej, the man who refused to take her as a proper mate. She knew he didn't want to acknowledge a human as his mate and she wasn't about to wait patiently for him. She'd go on with her life and deal with the urges herself. But Andrzej has demons of his own, ones that come after Jezzie and threaten to take her away forever. Will they be able to hold on long enough to save their chance at happiness, or will it fall away with Jezzie's life? WARNING: This story contains a dominant that just doesn't know a powerful woman is his perfect submissive!
