Abby and Gabriel were best friends Until high school started. At the start of their first day, Gabriel assured Abby that he would look out for her.

They were closer than ever, until lunch that day. When Abby goes to join him at the table that day, he brushes her off and puts her into a world of pain. Now it's senior year, and Abby's new best friend, Katherine, is here to help her get through it all, including trying to endure all the bullying from Gabriel's friends. His girlfriend, Caroline, loves nothing more than tormenting Abby, always making a point to kiss and hold him in front of her. And, Gabriel is no better, always egging Abby on just as much. It's Katherine that keeps Abby stable through it all, but even after four years, Abby is having a hard time accepting Gabriel's choices. More than anything, Abby's undying love for Gabriel and her jealousy of Caroline are driving her crazy. That's what I thought anyway but I'm guessing he didn't think the same way I did. High school had taken my best friend from me but he had a choice to make and he made it. He made it right in the beginning of 9th grade. 4 years ago "So are you excited for your first day of high school?" Gabriel asked me. We were both on our way to start our school year as freshman and I was somewhat happy but jittery at the same time. I turned and look at him and smiled and nodded my head. I glanced back out the bus window as it came to a stop as we picked up a few more people. I started to shake my leg a little as we started to move again. I haven't been looking forward to high school at all. I have been dreading it all summer and when today finally came I tried to play sick but my mom wasn't buying it. I felt a hand on my leg and turned to look at Gabriel. "Calm down Abby. I don't know why you're freaking out." He took his hand off my leg and put it on the seat in front of him. He rested his cheek on his arm and looked at me with his mesmerizing blue eyes. I stared back at him a smile on my face. "You got me anyway. No one is gonna bother you as long as I'm around." He smiled at me showing me his straight white teeth.
